CIC THEMATIC LEARNING

Learning is a highly integrated process which cannot be easily separated into domains or traditional academic disciplines such as maths, science, and language. Children learn through active engagement with their environment and through social engagement with other human beings. Multiple complex and concrete experience are essential for meaningful learning and teaching.

Thematic learning provides an integrated approach to teaching and learning. Such an integrated approach is supported by research on how the brain works and how human beings learn. Ultimately, the use of thematic units helps young children achieve higher levels of learning.

CIC OXFORD READING TREE

Oxford Reading Tree stories at stages 1-4 feature settings and situation most children will find familiar. It reflects the experiences of most preschool children and their imagination.

Children of this age will readily identify with the characters and situations, as it helps them build their comprehension skills.

Each book tells a complete story, using natural language, phonically decodable words and high frequency words, all supported by funny and engaging pictures. The books offer plenty of scope for developing children's word recognition and language comprehension skills. Through application of systematic phonic teaching, children become highly motivated to put extra effort in learning to read.

Oxford Reading Tree stories at stages 5-9 continues to feature the familiar characters from previous stages in stories that reflect the experiences of most children.

The stories still use natural language, phonically decodable words and high frequency words, all illustrated with funny and engaging pictures. Reading them will enable children to practice different reading skills and continue to develop word recognition and language comprehension skills.

CIC LEARNING SOUNDS

Duration of Programme	: 40 minutes each session 3 times/week Long-term course (11 months)
Target Age	: 3-6 years old

SOUND STARTERS

Sound starters are books to read and chant. They introduce the skill of associating letters and sounds (grapho-phonetic knowledge). At the same time, there are books providing children with real stories to enjoy.

Sound Starters aims to:

- Encourage an enjoyment of language and a positive attitude to reading
- Help children link the sounds of English with their common letter equivalents using a 'multi-sensory' approach
- Develop essential reading behaviours such as learning the order and direction in which stories are read
- Encourage children to use illustrations as a prompt for telling a story
- Give opportunities for reading repeated texts

SOUND RHYMES

Sound Rhymes will help the beginner reader consolidate early reading skills. The stories focus on important letter and sound patterns for reading and spelling. The stories in this series are meaningful and amusing, and each of them focuses on particular rhyming families. Children learn to associate the sounds of the rhyme with a particular letter pattern.

Sound Rhymes series aims to:

- Increase children's awareness of rhymes
- Provide opportunities to recognize and read words based on the familiar letter-sound patterns of rhymes
- Extend children's oral language and encourage them to move beyond the printed text
- Encourage an enjoyment of language and a positive attitude to reading
- Develop the recognition of high frequency words within a meaningful context
- Encourage children to focus on the print to aid word recognition and self correction

SOUND BLENDS

Sound blends help the beginner reader consolidate early reading skills. The stories focus on initial consonant blends, a blend consisting of a sequence of two or more consonants in the spoken word.

The Sound Blends series aims to:

- Encourage an enjoyment of language and a positive attitude to reading
- Develop the recognition of high frequency words within a meaningful context
- Encourage children to focus on the print to aid word recognition and self correction
- Give opportunities to practice decoding words based on the familiar letter/sound patterns of blends
- Extend children's oral language and encourage them to move beyond the printed text

SOUND STORIES

Sound Stories introduce children to 'reading' first books. They reinforce the skill of associating letters and sounds (grapho-phonetic knowledge) within the context of meaningful stories that can be enjoyed and shared.

The Sound Stories series aims to:

- Encourage an enjoyment of language and a positive attitude to reading
- Reinforce and consolidate the important link between the sounds of English and their common letter equivalent and toward using this knowledge in working out new words
- Extend children's oral language and encourage them to move beyond the printed text

Teaching children is an

CIC EDUCATIONAL VISIT

Field trips give students educational experiences away from their regular school environment. Students visit different educational facilities to learn in a more hands-on and interactive manner.

Children learn about different professions, ideas and opportunities when they travel outside their own neighborhood. A field trip can awaken the desire in a child to try new things and pursue previously unconsidered dreams. Field trips would introduce children to the working environment and may spark new interests and passions.

During service-oriented field trips, kids learn about helping others in the community. Meanwhile, the community also benefits from the services.

Field trips can result in greater achievement in all subjects. By seeing real-life application of the lessons that they are learning at school, children might be more likely to understand and appreciate the importance and relevance of what they are learning.
